Anonymous Wecht trial jurors go on crime spree

The anonymous jurors in the Cyril Wecht trial are suspects in a series of muggings, bank robberies, and menorah thefts throughout Allegheny County.

Judge Arthur Schwab ordered the jurors' anonymity due to revelations that Wecht wrote threatening letters to the Imperial Ruler of Planet Xenon, accusing him of anti-Semitism after Xenon failed to pay an invoice stemming from Wecht's work on the Fox Network's old "Alien Autopsy" show.

Judge Schwab's order makes it illegal even to think about the jurors' identities, so police will not be investigating.

Parson Brown sues over identity theft

Clergyman Parson Brown sued two college students for identity theft because in the meadow they built a snowman and pretended it was him.

It's a Wonderful Ravenstahl

The Mayor is depressed as an angel shows him what Pittsburgh would be like if he had never been mayor — and it's pretty nice.

Hear da JUDGE

By the Hon. Rufus Peckham

DEAR JUDGE: I am very depressed this holiday season. Can you help?

—Brad Humbug,
 Hamburg, N.Y.

DEAR HUMBURG IN HAMBURG: I checked it out and learned you're depressed because your boss wants to fire you.

Let's just say the problem's been resolved. I called him and explained I was prepared to publish fake photos of him in compromising positions with a minor, which I emailed to him.

I told him, "Don't think I won't do it, Mr. Hermann, because I have them, and I will." I also threatened to do him grievous bodily harm.

The bottom line: You're getting a promotion and a raise, despite the fact you really are incompetent.

TO VELVEETA OF BRENTWOOD: Hurry and cash your deceased neighbor's check, you fool, but sign his name this time!

BUSH: 'FELIZ NAVIDAD' SHOULD BE SUNG IN ENGLISH

President Bush ignited a firestorm of controversy when he said Mexicans should sing Feliz Navidad in English.

Bush added that he wouldn't mind if "they sing it with a heavy Hispanic accent" because that would lend the song "authentic third-world charm."
